How to use this workbook

This workbook follows the life of Moses in eight sessions. Their shape comes from Scripture itself: Stephen, in Acts 7, tells Moses' life as three spans of forty years.

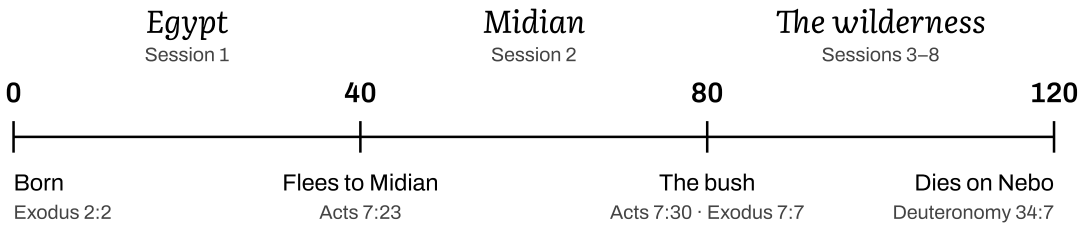

Alone. Take one session a week. Read the whole passage first, in a Bible or in the site's reader. Then read the summary and the key verses, and work through the questions, writing your answers in the space under each one.

In a group. Ask everyone to read the passage before you meet. When you meet, read the key verses aloud, take the questions in order, and let every answer point back to a verse. A session fills about an hour.

The questions were written by this site. Each one names the verses it comes from, and its answer is in those verses. Observe questions ask what the text says; interpret questions ask what it means in its own setting; reflect questions ask you to bring it to your own life. There is no answer key: the passage is the answer key.

The text. Scripture is quoted word for word from the King James Version, as the site's reader gives it. The summaries are in our own words, drawn from the site's reviewed pages on Moses, and each paragraph is followed by the verses it rests on.

The three forties

Stephen, telling Israel's story in Acts 7, divides Moses' life into three spans of forty years. He was "full forty years old" when he went to visit his brethren; "when forty years were expired" an angel appeared to him in the bush; and he led Israel out with wonders and signs "in the wilderness forty years".

Acts 7:23; Acts 7:30; Acts 7:36

Exodus and Deuteronomy give the same outline in his ages. Moses was "fourscore years old" when he and Aaron spoke to Pharaoh, and "an hundred and twenty years old when he died".

Exodus 7:7; Deuteronomy 34:7

This workbook follows that shape. Session 1 covers the first forty, from his birth to his flight; session 2 the second, in Midian, ending at the bush; sessions 3 to 8 the third, from Pharaoh's court to mount Nebo.

SESSION 1

Drawn out of the water

THE FIRST FORTY · EGYPT

READ

Exodus 1–2; Acts 7:17–29

IN BRIEF

Israel's family grew in Egypt until a new king arose "which knew not Joseph". He set taskmasters over them; when the Hebrew midwives, who "feared God", would not kill the boys at birth, Pharaoh ordered that every son born be cast into the river.

Exodus 1:7–22

A man and a woman of the house of Levi had a son. His mother hid him three months, then laid him in an ark of bulrushes among the flags by the river, while his sister watched from afar. Pharaoh's daughter found him and had compassion on him; his sister fetched his own mother to nurse him, and when he grew he became Pharaoh's daughter's son. She named him Moses: "Because I drew him out of the water."

Exodus 2:1–10

When Moses was grown, forty by Stephen's count, he saw an Egyptian smiting a Hebrew and killed him. The next day a Hebrew asked him, "Who made thee a prince and a judge over us?" Pharaoh sought to slay him, and Moses fled to the land of Midian.

Exodus 2:11–15; Acts 7:23–29

In Midian he helped the seven daughters of the priest at a well, married Zipporah, and named his son Gershom: "I have been a stranger in a strange land." In Egypt the king died, the children of Israel cried out under their bondage, and "God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob."

Exodus 2:15–25

SESSION 2

The bush

THE SECOND FORTY · MIDIAN

READ

Exodus 3–4; Acts 7:30–35

IN BRIEF

Forty years after he fled, by Stephen's count, Moses was keeping the flock of Jethro his father in law at Horeb, the mountain of God. The angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of a bush that "burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed". When Moses turned aside to see, God called him by name, told him to put off his shoes, and named himself the God of Abraham, of Isaac and of Jacob.

Acts 7:29–30; Exodus 3:1–6

God said he had seen the affliction of his people and was come down to deliver them, and he sent Moses to Pharaoh. Moses asked, "Who am I", and God answered, "Certainly I will be with thee". When Moses asked what name to give the people, God said, "I AM THAT I AM".

Exodus 3:7–15

Moses said the people would not believe him, and God gave him three signs: the rod that became a serpent, the hand made leprous and whole again, and river water that would become blood. Moses said he was “slow of speech”, and asked the Lord to send “by the hand of him whom thou wilt send”. The anger of the LORD was kindled, and he gave him Aaron his brother to speak for him.

Exodus 4:1–17

Moses took leave of Jethro and returned to Egypt with his wife and sons and “the rod of God in his hand”. On the way the LORD met him and sought to kill him, and Zipporah circumcised their son. Aaron met him in the mount of God; together they gathered the elders, and the people believed and worshipped.

SESSION 3

Let my people go

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Exodus 5–12

IN BRIEF

Moses and Aaron told Pharaoh, “Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Let my people go”. Pharaoh answered, “Who is the LORD, that I should obey his voice”. He stopped giving the Israelites straw for their bricks but demanded the same number of bricks, and the officers of Israel, beaten, blamed Moses and Aaron. Moses asked the Lord, “why is it that thou hast sent me?”

Exodus 5:1–23

The LORD answered with his name and his promise: he would bring them out, redeem them “with a stretched out arm”, take them to him for a people, and bring them into the land. The people did not hearken to Moses, “for anguish of spirit, and for cruel bondage”. Moses was eighty and Aaron eighty-three when they spoke to Pharaoh.

Exodus 6:1–9; Exodus 7:7

Through the wonders that followed, Pharaoh's heart was hardened again and again, "as the LORD had said". His magicians, who at first did "in like manner with their enchantments", came to tell him, "This is the finger of God". After the darkness Pharaoh told Moses he would die on the day he saw his face again.

Exodus 7:10–13; Exodus 8:15–19; Exodus 10:21–29

Before the last plague the LORD told each household to kill a lamb, strike its blood on the side posts and the upper door post, and eat it in haste: "when I see the blood, I will pass over you". At midnight the firstborn of Egypt died. Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron by night and told them to go, and Israel went out at the end of four hundred and thirty years.

The sea

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Exodus 13:17–15:27

IN BRIEF

God did not lead the people by the way of the land of the Philistines, though it was near, but “about, through the way of the wilderness of the Red sea”. Moses carried the bones of Joseph with him, and the LORD went before them in a pillar of a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night.

Exodus 13:17–22

Pharaoh’s heart was turned against the people, and he pursued them with six hundred chosen chariots. When the Israelites saw the Egyptians behind them they were sore afraid, and told Moses it had been better to serve the Egyptians than to die in the wilderness. Moses answered, “Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the LORD”.

Exodus 14:5–14

Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; the LORD drove it back by a strong east wind all that night, and Israel went through on dry ground, the waters “a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left”. The waters returned upon the Egyptians. Then the people “feared the LORD, and believed the LORD, and his servant Moses”.

Exodus 14:21–31

Moses and the children of Israel sang to the LORD, and Miriam the prophetess led the women with timbrels. After three days in the wilderness without water they came to Marah, where the water was bitter, and the people murmured against Moses. He cried to the LORD, who showed him a tree that made the waters sweet and said, “I am the LORD that healeth thee”.

Sinai

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Exodus 19–20; Exodus 24

IN BRIEF

In the third month after leaving Egypt, Israel camped before the mount in the wilderness of Sinai. From the mountain the LORD told Moses to remind the people how he "bare you on eagles' wings", and to say that if they obeyed his voice and kept his covenant, they would be "a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation". The people answered together, "All that the LORD hath spoken we will do."

Exodus 19:1–8

On the third day there were thunders and lightnings, a thick cloud on the mount, and the voice of the trumpet "exceeding loud"; mount Sinai was on a smoke and quaked, and all the people in the camp trembled. Moses brought the people out to meet with God, and the LORD called Moses up to the top of the mount.

Exodus 19:16–20

God spoke “all these words”, beginning, “I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.” The people stood afar off and asked Moses to speak to them, so that God would not; Moses “drew near unto the thick darkness where God was”.

Exodus 20:1–21

Moses told the people the words, and they answered with one voice that they would do them. He wrote them down, built an altar and twelve pillars, read “the book of the covenant”, and sprinkled the blood on the people: “Behold the blood of the covenant”. Then he went up into the cloud, and was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

The calf and the glory

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Exodus 32–34

IN BRIEF

While Moses was in the mount, the people told Aaron, “Up, make us gods, which shall go before us”. Aaron made a molten calf from their golden earrings, built an altar before it and proclaimed a feast. The LORD told Moses that the people had corrupted themselves, that he would consume them and make of Moses a great nation. Moses besought him, reminding him of Egypt and of his oath to Abraham, Isaac and Israel, and the LORD repented of the evil.

Exodus 32:1–14

Coming down, Moses saw the calf and the dancing, cast the tables out of his hands and broke them, and burnt the calf. He called, “Who is on the LORD’s side?”, and the sons of Levi gathered to him; about three thousand men fell that day. The next day he went back up to the LORD and asked him to forgive their sin, “and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written.”

Exodus 32:15–32

Moses pitched a tabernacle outside the camp, where "the LORD spake unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend". He asked that the LORD's presence go with them, and then, "I beseech thee, shew me thy glory." The LORD promised to set him in a cleft of the rock while his glory passed by; on the mount he passed by before Moses, proclaiming, "The LORD, The LORD God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth".

Exodus 33:7–23; Exodus 34:5–7

Moses hewed two new tables of stone and was in the mount again forty days and forty nights. When he came down, the skin of his face shone and he "wist not" that it did; Aaron and the people were afraid to come near him, and when he had done speaking with them he put a vail on his face.

Forty years

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Numbers 13–14; Numbers 20

IN BRIEF

At the LORD's word Moses sent twelve men, a ruler from every tribe, to search the land of Canaan. After forty days they came back to Kadesh with a cluster of grapes carried between two on a staff, and said that the land "floweth with milk and honey", but that the people were strong and the cities walled. Caleb said, "Let us go up at once, and possess it"; the others brought an evil report: "we were in our own sight as grasshoppers".

Numbers 13:1–33

The congregation wept that night, murmured against Moses and Aaron, and said, "Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt." Joshua and Caleb told them the land was "an exceeding good land" and "the LORD is with us: fear them not", but the congregation bade stone them with stones.

Numbers 14:1–10

The LORD said he would smite the people and make of Moses a greater nation. Moses pleaded again, repeating the LORD's own words, "The LORD is longsuffering, and of great mercy", and the LORD answered, "I have pardoned according to thy word". Yet that generation would not see the land: they would wander forty years, a year for each day of the search, and of the men counted only Caleb and Joshua would go in, with the children.

Numbers 14:11–38

Later, at Kadesh, Miriam died, and the people chode with Moses because there was no water. The LORD told him to take the rod and speak to the rock; Moses said, "Hear now, ye rebels; must we fetch you water out of this rock?" and struck it twice. The water came out abundantly, but the LORD said that, "Because ye believed me not", Moses and Aaron would not bring the congregation into the land. Aaron died on mount Hor in the fortieth year.

NOTES

SESSION 8

THE THIRD FORTY · THE WILDERNESS

READ

Deuteronomy 31–34; Deuteronomy 3:23–28

IN BRIEF

At a hundred and twenty years old Moses told Israel that the LORD had said he would not go over Jordan, and that Joshua would go over before them. In the sight of all Israel he told Joshua, “Be strong and of a good courage”; the LORD gave Joshua the same charge at the tabernacle.

Deuteronomy 31:1–8; Deuteronomy 31:14; Deuteronomy 31:23

Moses wrote the words of the law in a book and had the Levites put it in the side of the ark of the covenant; he also wrote a song and taught it to Israel as a witness. He told the people, “it is not a vain thing for you; because it is your life”.

Deuteronomy 31:19–30; Deuteronomy 32:44–47

Earlier he had prayed to go over and see the good land, and was told, “Let it suffice thee; speak no more unto me of this matter.” Now the LORD told him to go up mount Nebo, see the land of Canaan and die there, as Aaron had died on mount Hor, because at Meribah “ye sanctified me not in the midst of the children of Israel”. Before his death Moses blessed the tribes one by one.

Deuteronomy 3:23–27; Deuteronomy 32:48–52; Deuteronomy 33

From the top of Pisgah the LORD showed him the land and said, “I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not go over thither.” Moses the servant of the LORD died there in Moab; “his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated”, and no man knows where his grave is. Israel wept for him thirty days, and then hearkened to Joshua, on whom Moses had laid his hands.

Deuteronomy 34:1–9

Deuteronomy closes: “there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face”. In Matthew’s Gospel Moses appears again, with Elias, talking with Jesus on a high mountain.

Deuteronomy 34:10–12; Matthew 17:1–3
